Dear Mr Ransen

January 22, 2011

I'm happy to get in touch with you again through this email. First of all, I would like to wish you a Happy New Year 2011, all the best to you in this new coming year. In my 5th semester, I gain more knowledge, especially about management and financial report analysis. I had quite a good mark for this semester although it's not as good as last semester, especially for curriculum which require me to memorize. I'm so happy to be able to continue my study. My study will begin again in February, I hope I still be able to keep up my performance, and not dissaponting people who has supported me so far.

I'm just delivered my first baby boy few months ago, he's a lessing for our small family. He's also the one who completely ruin myschedule, all my attention is now focused on him, and I dont have time to take care of my self ! But apart from that, I feel so happy and he's presence have made me so excited to do the best for him.. Since 2 months a go I have back to work, and my son was looked after by one of my aunty. I have to admit that this is not an easy time for me, I feel so tired after I went home from work, yet I have to take care of my baby. That is why I spend quite sometime discussing my study with ibu Maria Rosa, what I'm supposed to do when the new semester began next February.

I have a plan to resign from my work place now, and start my own small business at home. My husband currently has prepared a culinary business for me, so that I can work at home and still have enough time for my baby. We have a plan to sell meat ball soup called "Sup baso cekeer" in my neighbourhood. I really hope this effort can replace my previous salary from my previous employer. I have discussed about this plan with ibu maria Rosa, and her respond is very positive.

That's my short story of what I've been doing so far, too short I guess to cover all my life's story, but apart from that, i wish to thank you and every member of Tristan Foundation, who have supported me in achieving my future.

Sincerely yours

Lia Purnamasari
